

Business Architecture Independent Health Check

Your BA is a foundational strategic asset; our “health” assessment of that asset provides you with an informed, independent perspective of your BA’s strategic viability.

You have an organization to run and even the best people in your organization to assess your internal business information are too busy and often too widely distributed across projects, assignments, and locations to perform that assessment.

We will access your organization’s Business Architecture, or the repository of information that best represents the business strategies and other aspects described above, with minimal interaction with your organization as your executive team goes on with your business.

We will objectively assess the important aspects that a BA should offer to your organization and form a report of these observations and suggested actions to you within a specified time frame. We strive to be clear as to what we are looking for, concise in what we find, direct in identifying the level of effectiveness for each measure, apolitical, and technology agnostic.

The BACOE Approach:

- Develop a solid understanding of the identity and health of your Business Architecture.
- Determine metrics of observation for the Business Architecture.
- Identify and interview key Business Architecture stakeholders and support staff.
- Compile key observations into a summary that analyzes the state of the Business Architecture to derive action plans and build roadmaps that address discovered gaps or shortcomings in the existing Business Architecture.
- Define an effective schedule of prioritized initiatives, transitioning to the next phase of a refined Business Architecture.
